GRINDING AWAY.

THE REPUBLICAN CONVENTION COMPLETES ITS ORGANIZATION,

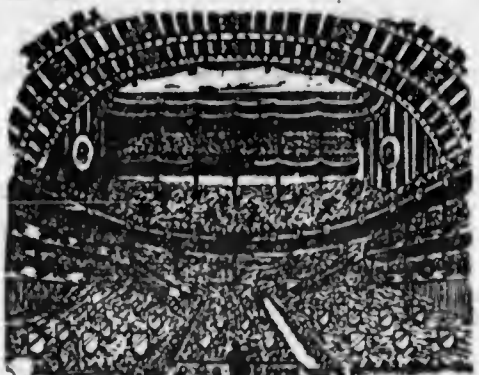

IN A TORRID ATMOSPHERE, AND AMID A TREMENDOUS CROWD.

Proceedings of the Second Day—The Committee on Permanent Organization Reported—Speech of Permanent Chairman Estee—The Woman Suffragists—The Tariff Plank Sub-Committee—Notes.

CHICAGO, June 20.—The weather and the political pot were in accord this morning. Both were boiling. The grateful breeze that wafted itself yesterday across the lake had struck a snag on the Michigan shore and its place was filled with a stifling blast that for aught can be told may have stayed away from the Sahara desert. Hot as it is, however, the political legions do not propose to allow their enthusiasm to be scorched.

From 6 o'clock this morning the interior of the principal hotels, to say nothing of the exterior for blocks around, have been one solid and ever-moving mass of people.

A thousand Rusk cohorts came down from Wisconsin before the managers of the governor's boom were out of bed. They took possession of the headquarters, the committee room and the adjacent corridors and proceeded to give themselves up to a general hurrah.

The Aiger adherents received an addition this morning to the extent of several hundred persons, and there were reinforcements in the Sherman, Harrison and Allison camps. All of them were loud, long and hearty, and their appearance was more than welcome to the patriots that have been bearing the heat and burn of the past few days.

According to one impartial calculation 250,000 strangers are in the city, and fully 200,000 of those are here to play the parts of amateur politicians. They enact their roles by shouting for a favorite son on an average every five minutes of the day.

It is a welcome relief to leave the torrid temperature on the outside to pass under the huge stone archway and thread the labyrinth of passages that lead into the auditorium hall. Here it is just cold enough for comfort. A constant flow of fresh air passing in its way from the basement over tons of ice, brings with it an invigorating influence. It is not quite a refrigerator but it is as near to it as a structure of its kind can possibly be.

The women are among the earliest on the scene, and very soon the stage boxes are filled with them.

The floral decorations of yesterday are replaced by two simple bouquets of red and white carnations, which ornament the top of the speaker's desk, while the mass of foliage and the big bank of flowers that created so much admiration yesterday has given way to an eagle wreath in suavia. A life-size bust of Gen. Logan, with the stars and stripes in the background, looks down from the edge of the reporter's platform right into the eyes of Chauncey Depew.

At 11:30, only a small scattering of Ohio, Massachusetts, New York and Louisiana delegates were in their seats.

At 12 o'clock the temporary chairman was not present and the crowd cried for "music." Col. George R. Davis, who holds the fort in the chairman's inclosure, touches the electric button and the band in the balcony responds with a selection from the "Chimes of Normandy," presently varying it with a melody of patriotic airs.

Here at last twenty minutes late is Chairman Thurston. The gentleman with him, slim in stature, intellectual in countenance, clean shaven chin and closely cropped mustache is Steven Northrup, pastor of the First Baptist church of Fort Wayne, Ind., and well known as the president of the board of managers of the Baptist ministers National home at Benton, Mich.

Meanwhile the band which has been keeping the convention in good humor with "Tramp, the Boys are Marching," "Rally Round the Flag," and similar exhilarating airs concludes its selection with "America." Mr. Thurston rises, surveys the throng through his gold rimmed glasses, his gavel falls and at 12:33 the convention is called to order.

The clergyman is introduced and gives thanks to God for his mercies, for the divine protection, for all the rich blessings that come to-day from a glorious past, for all the things that pertain to the moral and spiritual welfare of the country, for the peace and prosperity of the land. When the prayer concluded the band in slow and solemn tones rendered a familiar hymn.

Having announced that a large number of resolutions that had been sent to the desk before the reassembling, had been referred to the appropriate committees, the chairman asked: "What is the pleasure of the convention?"

Mr. Hamill, of Colorado, was quickly on his feet to move an adjournment until 6 o'clock, "unless," he added, "there is something we have to do."

There were shouts of "no" and the report of the committee on permanent organization was loudly called for.

A motion that the committee report at once was moved and seconded, but Mr. Harris, of North Carolina, contended that the committee could hardly report before the committee on credentials had concluded its labors.

This was effective in scolding the withdrawal of the motion, but the chairman interposed to say that at the last two conventions they did not wait for the credentials before effecting a permanent organization. He also announced that the former committee could not report until 5 p. m.

Mr. Anderson, of Iowa, moved that the convention adjourn until 5 p. m. Congressman Bayne, of Pennsylvania, insisted that the convention proceed to the permanent organization. He had the convention with him, as was evinced from the applause, and seeing this he called for the report.

Mr. Anderson withdrew his motion and the motion to receive the report of the committee on permanent organization was unanimously adopted. When Governor Foster, of Ohio, stepped upon the platform to present the report, he was heartily cheered. He named the following officers:

Chairman—Hon. M. M. Estee, of California.

Secretaries—Charles W. Clisbee, of Michigan; Michael Griffin, of Wisconsin; William Buel, of Tennessee, Mr. Lybush, of Pennsylvania.

Assistant secretaries—Thomas J. Brogan, of Tennessee; James Bisby, of Minnesota; Henry M. Cooper, of Arkansas; William Nelson, of New Jersey; A. W. Monroe, of Maryland; J. E. Wiley, of Texas; C. M. Shinn, of West Virginia, and John E. Minor, of Louisiana.

Reading clerks—Henry Ballard, of Vermont; Col. Clarkson Lake, of New York; Capt. David Lenning, of Ohio; James H. Stone, of Michigan, and George M. Brinkerhoff, of Illinois.

Official stenographer—Gustavus P. English.

Sergeant-at-arms—Charles Fitzsimons, of Chicago.

Mr. Estee's name was received with a burst of applause from the Californians. Benjamin Butterworth's name among the vice presidents was received with great approbation and when the name of Webster Flanagan, of Texas, was reached the audience gave a great shout, then went into convulsions of laughter and finally concluded with a cheer.

No one had any opposition to offer to the report and when it had been adopted Governor Foster, of Ohio, George B. Sloan, of New York, and M. D. Foley, of Nevada, were appointed a committee to conduct the permanent chairman to his seat.

A few words of thanks from Temporary Chairman Thurston for the consideration extended to him, a word of introduction for his successor, and the permanent chairman stepped forward. He spoke clearly and distinctly and with considerable earnestness of manner as follows:

"GENTLEMEN OF THE CONVENTION—I thank you in the name of the states and territories of the Pacific coast, as well as from my own heart, for the distinguished honor that you have seen fit to confer upon me.

"I appreciate to the fullest extent the grave responsibilities devolving upon me, and this being a Republican convention, I shall ask in all things its charitable judgment and its candidness' earnest support.

"Gentlemen of the convention, following so illustrious a gentleman as your temporary chairman, I shall not attempt to detain you by any lengthened speech. I only want to say to you that we live so far from the center of the republic, over on the Pacific shore, that I can't even guess who your nominees is going to be. [Laughter.] Of course you all know. [Laughter.]

"I say further to you, my friends and gentlemen of the convention, that while I am not able to say exactly what your platform will be, yet the people of the country have echoed its sentiment and the rattle of the skirmish line was heard only two weeks ago from Oregon. [Great applause.] God willing, next November you will hear from Cleveland's Appointor all over this great republic. [Applause.]

"My friends and gentlemen of the convention, again thanking you for the very high honor you have conferred upon me, and expressing my hope and prayer, with the belief that our duties are of the greatest and most solemn character, and trusting from the depths of my soul that every act may be done to promote the best interest of our common country and to advance the great Republican party, I will call for the next order of business. (Applause.)

The first applause was brought on by Mr. Estee's reference to Oregon, and it was mingled with shouts of hurrah. Three cheers for Oregon were called from the gallery, and heartily given. Only two minutes were occupied with the speech, to the obvious surprise of the convention, which had expected a speech upon the issues of the hour. It was known moreover that a careful speech had been prepared, and it is now a dead loss to many newspapers which had it in type. The reason for Mr. Estee's change of program cannot be divined.

At the conclusion of Mr. Estee's little address, Mayor Roche, of Chicago, who was the first delegate to gain recognition, climbed upon the platform with a silver gavel in his hand and in an able speech, presented it in behalf of the city to the chair. It was, he said, not silver alone, but of gold, emblematic of the bi-metallic basis of sound National currency. The appreciation that greeted the gift was expressed by prolonged cheers, and they were renewed when Delegate Charles A. Work, of Rockford, Ill., took his place and presented a gavel made from a desk in a tannery in Galena and which "once belonged to that superb, magnificent, silent soldier, Gen. Grant." [Long continued applause.]

"Yesterday," said the speaker, "the Michigan delegation presented you with a gavel which to pound the Democracy to death. We now give you a gavel with which you can tan their hides." Continuous cheers and laughter greeted this sally, and the chairman, in a few well spoken words, thanked the delegations for their gifts.

This done, he laid aside the Michigan and silver gavels and proceeded to use that associated with memories of Grant. Congressman Bayne, of Pittsburg, submitted the report of the committee on rules.

The rules provide for the following order of business:

First—Report of the committee on credentials.

Second—Report of the committee on resolutions.

Third—Calling roll for members of the National committee.

Fourth—Placing in nomination candidates for president.

Fifth—Balloting.

Sixth—Nominations for vice president.

Seventh—Balloting.

After presenting the report Mr. Payne remarked that the most essential difference between the present rules and those adopted at previous convention was the proposed formation of an executive committee of nine to be elected by the National committee, clothed with power to conduct the affairs of the party.

The adoption of the report was moved when Senator Hoar asked for the reading of the rule relating to alternates. It was looked for but much to the amusement of the convention the chair announced that the rules were on the way to the printers. A messenger was sent for the document, but meanwhile Mr. Hoar had repeated the rule from memory and without any explanation moved that it be recommitted to the committee on amendments.

Mr. Butterworth moved to amend the report, so as to provide that fifteen minutes only be allowed for nominating speeches, allowing only ten minutes for seconding speeches. Mr. Bayne made an appeal to Mr. Butterworth to withdraw his motion, placing a limit on the length of speeches, but Mr. Butterworth evoked a ripple of laughter by the remark, that he made it out of sympathy for the audience.

Mr. Bayne continued, and spoke so long that "time" was called on him, and the audience indulged in a good laugh at his expense. He could not understand, he said, what Senator Hoar wanted, as the rule relating to alternates was practically the same as had prevailed in former years.

Senator Hoar then replied in explanation: "The rule provides for but one alternate for each delegate. If that alternate is absent, no other alternate can take the place of the absent delegate. I want it amended so that any one of the alternates from a district can serve in the place of an absent delegate from that district."

Mr. Butterworth's resolution to limit the speeches was lost on a viva voce vote, by a large majority, and then Senator Hoar and Congressman Bentle, of Maine, became involved in a brief controversy, in relation to the senator's position on the alternate question.

Mr. Root, of Arkansas, submitted another technical amendment to the rule, while the audience showed signs of impatience.

Chauncey I. Filley, of Missouri, joined in the discussions. Mr. Taft, of South Carolina, made another technical amendment.

Mr. Johnson, of New York, and others followed Taft and sent up technical resolutions on the subject, when Senator Hoar drew up a resolution that was approved by Chairman Bayne of the committee and at once submitted it to convention.

It read as follows: "Alternate delegates for each delegation at large, and alternate delegates for each district delegation, to consist of the same number as their principals, to act in the case of the absence of the delegates shall be elected."

Mr. Warner, of Alabama, discussed this proposition amid cries of "question."

Mr. Haywood, of California, held that it would be a serious matter to try and amend rules in open convention and moved that the question be recommitted to the chairman of the committee on rules with instructions to put the amendment in proper language.

Mr. Husted, of New York, said that all the rules had been carefully considered, and urged the convention to vote down all amendments and adopt the report as presented. The cries of question were so persistent that the chairman ejaculated: "Oh, we're trying to get it right. Let us have a little liberty about it."

Mr. Boutell made another effort to get unanimous consent to have the rule recommitted, but he failed, and amid some confusion, Senator Hoar's amendment was voted down by a large majority, and the report, after an hour had been consumed in discussing it, was unanimously adopted with considerable and laughter.

Mr. Wharton, of Alabama, complained that his delegation couldn't hear what was going on, but the chair could not help him. No response was made when the report of the committee on credentials was called for, and Mr. Horr moved a recess until 8 p. m.

This did not please the occupants of the balconies and the resolution was temporarily withdrawn to allow Mr. Husted to present a resolution authorizing the sub-committee of the National committee to supply the 200 tickets which the convention ordered yesterday should be distributed among the old soldiers and sailors. The resolution was adopted.

Mr. Horr then renewed his motion to take a recess until 8 p. m., which prevailed and at 2:15 the convention dissolved until evening when the committee on credentials are expected to report.

Confused and Complex.

CHICAGO, June 20.—The situation is still confused and complex. Many men are claiming many things. Last night was full of life. The streets were given up to processions till midnight. The Foraker club, of Columbus, serenaded the headquarters of all the candidates last night. Governor Foraker came in for some attention to. They thought he was at the Richelieu Hotel and marched down there.

The band played two or three pieces, and then the club yelled for Foraker. He was not in the hotel. Senator Quay was called for. He made a ringing Sherman speech, followed by Butterworth and Charles Groves in the same vein. A very big crowd, several thousand persons, had collected. The climax of the orator were not cheered very loudly. After Groves was done they began to call impatiently for McKinley, Depew and others.

The friends of all the candidates wanted to hear Depew talk, and kept up the yell for him until some one shouted, "He's at the Pacific—the Grand Pacific." The Blaine men commenced a tumult in front of the Leland, and the crowds drew that way. Mr. Depew was in the Richelieu at the time. Governor Foraker was yesterday presented with a beautiful floral tribute, in the shape of an American flag, in red, white and blue flowers. It was rumored that the gift was the offering of a lady from New York, who is a warm admirer of the hero of the unshaken hand.

At any rate the governor kept the beautiful gift within the sacred recesses of the own chamber, and gloriol quite frequently over its fragrance.

The Kentucky delegation late last night marched in a solid body to all the headquarters of the various delegations and formally asked that Col. W. O. Bradley be given second place on the ticket. They did not say whom they were for first place, but it is understood that they will support Sherman.

The eastern people are trying to get up an impression that there is to be a great stampede to Harrison, and that his nomination will be speedily effected, and be followed by that of Phelps. Some of the Blaine men, notably Mr. Atkins, are working to effect this condition, and the New York delegation, or rather about one-half of it, it is thought, will be committed to the Sherman wheel of the cause.

This implies the selling out of Depew, if he is seriously in the race. If all of New York and New Jersey go into this combination it will not be strong enough to secure Harrison's nomination unless the Blaine men from the Pacific slope are brought in, and the indications are that they can not be induced to support Harrison.

Harrison was not in harmony with the Pacific slope opinion on the Chinese question.

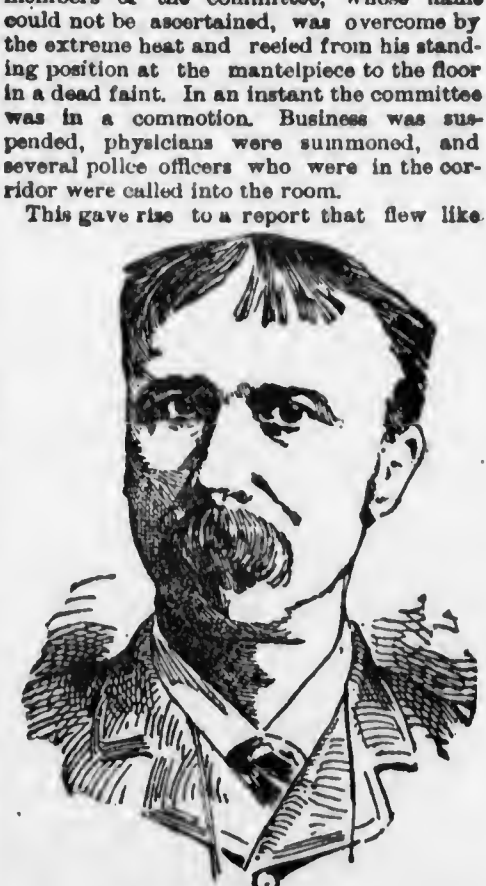

The Committee on Credentials.

CHICAGO, June 20.—For over four hours last night there was the deuce to pay in the committee on credentials.

Although he was the unanimous choice of the committee for chairman, Congressman Bingham, who is pronounced in his support of Mahone and desired to take the floor in behalf of the little Virginia declined the honor, and Congressman Hepburn, of Iowa, was elected in his stead. B. M. Bosworth, of Rhode Island, being chosen as secretary. It was decided to take up the Virginia contest and Brady opened for the contestants, in an address characterized by considerable warmth. Delegate-at-large S. Brown Allen, John C. Watts and A. W. Harris, followed in behalf of their own, the Mahone delegation.

While the latter was speaking, one of the members of the committee, whose name could not be ascertained, was overcome by the extreme heat and reeled from his standing position at the mantelpiece to the floor in a dead faint. In an instant the committee was in a commotion. Business was suspended, physicians were summoned, and several police officers who were in the corridor were called into the room.

This gave rise to a report that flew like

WM. WALTER PHELPS

Lightning around the hotel and drew a large crowd to the immediate vicinity that an altercation had occurred between Mahone and Wise in which pistols had been drawn. This was denied by Sergeant Smith but the fact was commented upon that from the period in question two officers remained in the room while a third stood guard at the door.

Under the influence of several pitchers of ice water which were emptied upon his head and the prompt arrival of a porter with a bottle of ammonia the fainting delegate was brought to consciousness, much to the relief of his colleagues who were impressed with the fear that he was about to expire from heart disease.

When the committee had once more settled down to business Gen. Mahone took the floor and delivered a characteristic speech, roundly denouncing both the political and personal motives of his opponents. At times

Does our neighbor the Republican believe that tariff reform is free trade?

The Republican show at Chicago has proved a big attraction for the "Windy City."

Next Saturday is the date of the Democratic primary election in Brown County, Ohio. A full county ticket is to be selected, but the chief interest centers in the fight for Sheriff and Commissioner.

DICK TATE, the defaulting State Treasurer, is said to be in Australia. As he carried about $75,000 or $80,000 of the people's money away with him, he can spend the balance of his days at ease, seeing the world.

A St. Louis man sued Congressman Glover for $150,000 for defamation of character, and the jury decided that the plaintiff's good name had been damaged "thirteen cents worth," and gave judgment for that amount.

The State Central Committee is taking steps looking to the organization of Democratic clubs in all the counties. This is right. A thorough organization is needed for the coming contest. It will bring out the full party vote and that means an old-time majority.

The Daily Republican said a few days ago that "the highways ought to be as free to travel outside of town as inside." This leads the Fleming True Blue Democrat to remark that "a protective tariff is a tollgate on the highway of trade. Why not apply your doctrine to the tariff?"

All this talk about free trade by Republicans is mere campaign thunder gotten up to frighten the people. Their old cry that a Democratic administration meant financial disaster to the country won't work this year. But they are still at their old tricks—it is free trade now.

The Louisville Times suggests the following for the Republican ticket and platform:

For President, John Jumpup Ingalls, of Kansas.
 For Vice President, Buck-Fuss Foraker, of Ohio.
 Platform: Never give up the loyal heroes nor surrender the rebel flags.

Will the Daily Republican and Lexington Leader please tell us what the "gas war" has got to do with a few people removing to other places? And will they then explain where "it has cost Maysville thousands of dollars?" Don't these able papers know the gas war has benefited the people of Maysville dollars where it has lost them cents?

Kentucky delegates at Chicago have had a regular monkey-and-parrot time this week, and all over the election of the chairman. Judge Denny, of Lexington, claims he was cheated out of the honor by Mr. Wilson, of Louisville. A special says: "Congressman Thomas sought to settle the question by offering a resolution declaring Wilson the chairman of the delegation. This stirred up the animals once more. After delivering another speech Mr. Denny donned his high silk hat, and, remarking that he wanted nothing more to do with the crowd, left the room. Mr. Lewis, in high dudgeon, joined him presently. Col. Goodloe said the thing had been settled, and that it was nonsense to vote on the Thomas resolution."

Good News From Indiana.

It is generally conceded that the vote of Indiana will cut an important figure in the election next fall. The Republicans realizing that their very existence as a party depends upon the National result will make a bitter struggle in the "Hoosier State." The situation at present, however, in that section, must be discouraging to them. "From all over the State," says the Indianapolis Sentinel, "come the most cheering reports of the Democratic situation and prospects. The party is united, harmonious and enthusiastic to a degree never before witnessed at the opening of a Presidential campaign. The Democratic newspapers of the State, without exception, are hearty in their encomiums upon the St. Louis ticket and platform. Cleveland and Thurman are in high favor with the people. The red bandana is proudly waving from the lake to the river. The issue of lower taxes is immensely popular. If there is anybody in or out of Indiana who thinks this is a doubtful State this year, he doesn't understand the situation. Indiana is easily good for 10,000 Democratic majority as the situation stands to-day."

FR. MONROE, Va., June 20.—The United States ship Yantic arrived here Tuesday from Santiago de Cuba. On May 23, the Yantic was dispatched to Port Au Prince, as our minister there had reported a revolution imminent. Less Demand for Guns.

The chairman of the Birmingham Gun-makers' association reports that there has been a decrease of 18,000 proofs as compared with last year, and there is such a depression in the trade as has not existed for twenty-seven years. The demand for high class guns has decreased, owing to the diminished incomes of those who use them. On the other hand 12,000 more revolvers have been sold.—New York Sun.

Stay at Home Evenings.

There is a prominent lady in Philadelphia who has written for private circulation a little social tract, in which she takes the view that very little mischief would happen in the world that does happen if men would stay home evenings with their wives. Intemperance, crime, divorce, and even political corruption, she attributes to this cause.—Chicago Herald.

TREES FROM SEED.

The State Forestry Association Calls Attention to an Important Question.

The Kentucky Forestry Association, of which Mr. D. A. Richardson is correspondent for Mason County, sends out the following circular which may prove of some interest to our county readers:

The importance of reforesting a portion of our country with young timber for utility, climate, and ornamental purposes, is a fact plain enough to those who will inform themselves. As one of the easiest and best way of securing the growth of young timber is from planting the seed, the following general directions are given for the preparation of the seed for planting of some of the native varieties of timber of our State. Gather the seeds from the sugar maple in September and October; silver and red maples in May and June; yellow and black locusts from September to March; coffee-nut, catalpa, and all varieties of ash from September to March; common mulberry, August and September; black and white walnut, all varieties of hickory, and all varieties of oaks and pines, September and October; yellow and white poplar, June; red cedar, from October to March. The seeds of all forest trees may be planted when they are ripe and fall to the ground and it is generally recommended to plant in permanent locations. When it is necessary to keep seed through the winter, the following directions are given for the various varieties; nuts should be kept damp; a good way is to spread them in thin layers on the ground and cover with sod, take them and plant early in the spring; sugar maple, white and black ash should be kept in moist sand. Osage orange balls ought to be piled in heaps, and exposed to the weather all winter. Plant the seeds of all soft maples and poplars as soon as gathered. Keep in soak for a considerable length of time or scald before planting the seeds of locusts, coffee-nuts and red cedar. Plant no seed deeper than one inch in the ground. Let all begin to gather seeds at once, and the different varieties as fast as they ripen. Do not delay until next season, begin now, investigate the subject, and you will find there is no time to be lost. A. H. LOGAN, Kentucky State Forestry Association.

The Courier-Journal's Chicago correspondent says S. A. Smith of Maysville, was registered at Kentucky headquarters Tuesday.

JAMES STREAD and William Cooley, two runaway lads from Manchester, were over-hauled at Cincinnati and sent to the House of Detention.

ANOTHER special from Millersburg says the report that an old negro woman died with cholera there a few days ago is incorrect. She had no symptoms of cholera.

It is probable that a young men's Democratic club, to be known as the Folsom Club, will be organized in this city in a few days. The preliminary steps are being taken.

THE cases of the farmers along the line of the Maysville and Big Sandy Railroad, in Lewis County, against that company have been set for hearing at Vanceburg next Tuesday.

REV. H. C. MORRISON and Miss Laura Dodd Bain were married at Lexington yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock, Rev. T. J. Dodd, assisted by Rev. J. R. Deering, officiating. The happy couple left shortly afterwards for Cincinnati, and will go thence to Louisville to spend a few days.

GEO. B. AYRES and John Stevenson, of Brown County, O., were arrested this week and taken to Cincinnati to answer the charge of trying to obtain a pension claim by fraud. They signed a claim for $610 pension money, claiming to be due for burying and other expenses of Mrs. Elizabeth Ayres, a pensioner.

TRACK-LAYING on the Maysville and Big Sandy is now progressing favorably down the river. Says the Ripley Bee: "The shrill shriek of the locomotives of the construction trains now wakens the echoes of the hills about here, and is a welcome sound indeed after all these weary years of watching and waiting and hoping."

THE Daily Republican and Lexington Leader are indulging in some uncalled-for statements as to people leaving Maysville. An investigation will show beyond question that Maysville is no worse off in this respect than other cities in settled portions of the country. And then our exchanges to be fair, ought to tell of the people who come here as well as of those who leave.

CALLED MEETING OF COUNCIL.

Matters of Interest Considered by the City Law-Makers Last Evening.

The called meeting of the City Council last evening was attended by all members except Messrs. Thomas and Triplett. President Poyntz presided.

The special business of the meeting was to consider bids for furnishing the city with 5,000 bushels, "more or less," of coal. Only two bids had been received, one from the Citizens' Coal Company, J. Hamilton agent, and the other from T. A. Keith & Co. The first bid was to furnish 5,000 bushels "lump coal" at 7½ cents and the other 5,000 bushels "best Pomeroy coal" at 8 cents. There was some talk of referring the matter back to the committee, but a motion was made to accept Keith & Co.'s bid. Carried unanimously.

The Committee on Fire Department recommended the purchase of 900 feet of hose—600 feet for the Washington Fire Company and 300 feet for the Amazon—and two branch pipes. The matter was referred back to the committee with instructions to receive bids and report at next meeting.

Mr. Wood wanted to know if the different fire companies had made their annual report required by law, as to their membership. His purpose, he said, was to find out whether the members of the companies turned out promptly when an alarm was given. He had frequently seen a few boys, assisted by only two or three men, pulling the hose carriages to the scene of fires. He charged that the town had no fire system at present. Some means of communication between the various engine houses ought to be provided; also a better and quicker plan of conveying the hose carriages to the scene of fires. The matter was referred to Committee on Fire Department, and the standing committees of the different companies, who are to consider and report.

The "Blanchard case" was stricken from the minutes on the unanimous recommendation of the Committee on Propositions and Grievances.

James Huli was granted permission to moor his family-boat near the mouth of Limestone Creek, while his son is being treated for a gun-shot wound by Dr. Strode.

Mr. Wood charged that many of the city ordinances are not being enforced. Cinders, ashes and garbage, he said, are thrown into the streets and alleys, drays are left on the streets at night; the dog law is not enforced; there is a cow ordinance, but it is being violated. Merchants, he said, claimed they had no protection. He wanted the laws enforced. The matter was referred to the Committee on Police.

As to the efficiency of the police, Captain Heflin stated that he and his two Deputies made over 200 arrests last month, while twenty-one officers at Lexington made only a little over 400 arrests in same time.

Mr. Wood wanted the loading and cursing on street corners stopped. He said enough profane language could be heard on some of the corners most any evening to make "one's hair stand on end."

Complaints were again made about the nuisance caused by the hot water from the ice factory being turned into the Wall street sewer. Referred to the Committee on Public Health, to enforce ordinance. The penalty is a fine of $20 a day for every day the nuisance is allowed to run.

Mr. Wood called attention to the importance and need of a library for the public school children. He said the recent examinations were highly satisfactory to the Board and creditable to the pupils and teachers. The examinations showed that a library of good and useful books would be of great advantage to the school children. The Greenwood fund, left for the benefit of the schools, might be used for the purpose. Referred to the Board of Education.

That Kinnikonick Viaduct. In a late issue of the BULLETIN an article concerning the Maysville and Big Sandy Railroad was copied from the Lexington Press. In referring to the viaduct at Kinnikonick Creek, the writer, "Cluq Mars" stated that "this is the best and most remarkable bridge in the country, and ruined the contractor who built it, for it cost him about $30,000 in excess of what he agreed to build it for."

This is a wild statement. The BULLETIN is reliably informed that the Maysville and Big Sandy Company, in 1854, paid $19,600 in full for this viaduct. The Huntington company, in 1886, paid by contract $3,900 for the completion of the two top courses of stone, thus showing a total cost of $23,500 for the viaduct, of which $3,500 at least was profit, instead of a loss of $30,000 as stated by the Press man.

IN FINANCIAL TROUBLE.

Sensational Suit Against an Ex-Citizen of Mason County—Sureties Involved.

The Cincinnati Enquirer says: "The failure of the Metropolitan Bank some time since resulted in a suit in Covington last Tuesday against one of the stockholders. The style of the suit is Marie Louise Powell against M. M. Durrett, guardian, and his bondsmen, Mollie C. Powell, — Reynolds, Alex. Montgomery, James B. Casey, R. M. Marshall and John Marshall. Durrett is the guardian of Marie Louise Powell, and had in his hands as guardian $129,000. When the Metropolitan Bank was organized he put $23,425 of the money in its stock. This, it is claimed, he had no right to do without an order from the court.

"It is alleged that he had no right to invest the money outside of the State. The plaintiff asks the court to remove him as guardian and refer his accounts to the Master Commissioner to audit. The bondsmen are liable for the amount invested in the bank stock, yet it is claimed that the stock will realize something. Mr. Durrett is perfectly willing to resign as guardian, but the plaintiff wants the matter to go through the proper form. Mr. Durrett had considerable of his own money invested in the bank stock. "The plaintiff asks for a judgment of $23,425."

Mr. Durrett was raised near Washington, and is well known here. His many friends will regret to learn of his trouble.

He worked himself into a white heat and his voice penetrated through the door out into the corridor. All his power of invective was brought into play and it was several times feared that Wise would be unable to maintain his self-possession.

He succeeded in doing so, however, and when Mahone had concluded he was called upon to reply in behalf of the contestants. He opened up with a calm and dispassionate explanation of the situation, which lasted long after midnight. The prospects are that the other contests will occupy the entire day and in this event the chances of the convention getting down to the permanent organization to-night are exceedingly slim.

No Place for Combinations.

CHICAGO, June 20.—There never was a convention which represented so vast and delightful a region of uncertainty for speculation as the one now being held here. Almost any respectable Republican of National reputation may be regarded as having at least one chance in the great lottery.

It is a very poor convention for combinations. A thousand have been attempted but not one has been formed. The delegations which have favored some stick to their own men, and reject every suggestion of compromise or arrangement which includes any sacrifice of their aspirations, while those who are fancy free insist on remaining so until the balloting begins.

All the booms hold their own, and the great shadow of Blaine still rests over them all. The speech of the temporary chairman, Thurston, did nothing to dispel that shadow. All through the night, in the hotels and streets, "Blaine" from thousands of throats, drowned out all other shibboleths.

The convention promises to be a long one. Business which could ordinarily be transacted in half an hour required half a day Tuesday, and the indications are that the proceedings will be equally dilatory to the end.

The Tariff Plank.

CHICAGO, June 20.—The sub-committee of the committee on platform, which was appointed to wrestle with the tariff plank, was in session until 2 o'clock in the morning, when a recess was taken until 9 o'clock.

It is constituted as follows: Congressman McKinley, of Ohio; Senator Farwell, of Illinois; Senator Stewart, of Nevada; Senator Harris, of North Carolina; Congressman Warner, of Missouri; Senator Hise, of New York; Henry S. Oliver, of Pennsylvania; Albert Griffin, of Kansas; A. W. Beard, of Massachusetts; S. Sweet, of Idaho, and J. R. Lynch, of Mississippi.

The Woman's Suffragists.

CHICAGO, June 20.—It was well on toward midnight when the committee on platform, after a five-hour session, decided to sleep over the various planks that had been submitted and come together again at 9 a. m. The entire session was occupied in listening to addresses from Mrs. Isabella Beecher Hooker, sister of the late Henry Ward Beecher, Miss Caroline Huling, editor of the Woman's Suffrage Journal, and Susan B. Anthony.

All these overwhelmed the committee with facts and figures tending to demonstrate that an equal suffrage plank should have a place in the platform. They were given a very respectful hearing, and when they retired the committee rose en masse as a mark of respect.

After this the necessity of a pronounced utterance on the liquor tariff was urged by Mrs. J. Ellen Foster, of Iowa, and deplored the action of a third party prohibitionists, and declared that if the committee would speak upon the subject with no uncertain sound they would win back a large proportion of the temperance vote that had allied itself with the National Prohibition party.

All of the speakers gave pledges that in the event of the committee according to their representations they would see to it that an army of trained speakers should go into the field in the coming campaign in behalf of the Republican party.

The Platform.

CHICAGO, June 20.—The committee on resolutions held a protracted meeting at the Union League last night. A gentleman who had been there said they would probably not be able to complete the platform to-day. In summarizing the instrument he said: "It will be practically a reaffirmation of the platform of 1884, with the addition of some caustic criticisms of the president's pension vetoes; a declaration that the pending tariff bill is vicious legislation, and the incorporation of a tariff plank unmistakable in its terms favoring protection of American industries."

A Great War Song Concert.

CHICAGO, June 20.—A monster war song concert was given in the auditorium last night under the auspices of the Veteran Union League. A band of fifty pieces, drum and bugle corps, and a grand mixed chorus of five hundred voices, with auxiliary power in the vast audience which filled the convention hall, were the component parts of the concert, which was declared a decided success. The beauty of the decorations, the number and brilliancy of the lights, the roominess and excellent acoustic properties of the convention hall were the subjects of continued comment all evening. At the conclusion of the concert a set of resolutions were adopted eulogistic of the principles of the Republican party.

Parading the Streets at Night.

CHICAGO, June 20.—Parades in honor of all the candidates with the exception of Rusk were made last night. Shermanites, the Harrisonians, the Gresham men and the visitors from Michigan. From dusk until midnight the city was alive with music, torches, transparencies and the steady tramp, tramp, of tens of thousands of feet.

"Vim, Vigor and Victory."

CHICAGO, June 20.—The Blaine club, of Cincinnati, arrived Tuesday, and received a perfect ovation. Inside the depot all were drawn up in line. Here there was a genuine surprise. Colored parasols—red, white and blue—were handed out to the surprised Blaineites. The first four were given red parasols, the second white, the third blue; then red again, and so on, the colors of the American flag being displayed. The word forward march was given. All the way to the Grand Pacific hotel thousands lined the streets, and the "Vim, Vigor and Victory" and Blaine banners were cheered to the echo. The effect of the use of the parasols was extremely pretty.

Would Blaine Accept?

NEW YORK, June 20.—The World has a dispatch from New-Castle-on-Tyne saying the political palaver and general turmoil of which Chicago Tuesday was the scene, has not made Mr. Blaine turn a hair. With unflinching equanimity he keeps on visiting cathedrals and fine old country seats and doing justice to his meals with the appetite which nine hours a day in the open air is apt to beget.

I show Mr. Blaine every morning and evening the latest American dispatches, which sometimes he reads and sometimes not. But I think all are of the opinion that should the Republican party, in spite of his repeated refusal on personal grounds to run, demand his service as standard bearer in the coming presidential contest, patriotism would force these personal reasons into the background and that he would accept.

A Pair of Irreverent Impostors.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., June 20.—Ten days ago A. J. Brown, who claimed to have fasted forty days and nights, made his appearance at Soddy, Tenn., and G. W. Patterson, a religious fanatic, had a large crowd gathered together to see Brown emerge from the woods. He was half naked, and Patterson declared him to be the real Christ. The people were wild over the affair for several days, but had quieted down until yesterday, when Brown had bills posted all over town announcing that he is to be crucified to-morrow. This started the excitement again, and trouble is feared. The sheriff had to be called upon ten days ago to keep the populace from mobbing both Brown and Patterson.

A Mother's Crime.

PITTSBURGH, June 20.—Mrs. Josephine Moroske, a Polish lady residing on Sycamore street, Allegheny, administered a dose of strychnine to each of her three children, aged respectively eight, five and three years, and then took a dose of the poison herself. At 11:15 o'clock the mother and two youngest children are dead and the oldest dying. The husband and father had left home but a few minutes before the poison was administered. He is a mill hand employed at Shoenberger's rolling mill, and can assign no cause for his wife's terrible deed.

Drowned on the Eve of His Wedding.

ROCHESTER, Ind., June 20.—Elsie Studebaker, a prosperous farmer's daughter, residing in the south part of this county, was drowned late Sunday evening while bathing in Mud Lake. The young man had been in attendance at a picnic with his betrothed, to whom he was to have been married Monday. The young lady was prostrated by the shock and may not recover.

Blinded by a Cross-Bow.

BRAZIL, Ind., June 20.—Lucien Rector, a young Dick Johnson township school teacher, while practicing with a cross-bow, suffered the loss of an eye. The bow string struck the arrow, pointed with a sharpened nail, so as to hurl it backward on a curved line. The arrow entered his eyeball, destroying it, and inflicting an ugly wound.

The firm gives as a reason for the assignment as being due to low bids on work.

The first comptroller has notified Gen. Ewing's sureties, Nathan Goff, Jr., and Charles N. D. Harris, that suit for the recovery of this amount will be entered.

Interesting Reading.

WASHINGTON, June 20.—Senator Sherman called at the office of the United Press at 10:30 last night and read the account of the Mahone-Wise dispute in the convention in the late afternoon and the report of the action of the committee on credentials. He remarked that "it was interesting reading."
